Oak Perfects Master Ball

PALLET TOWN - Professor Oak, the world's foremost authority on Pokémon, has just announced a technological breakthrough that will make capturing wild Pokémon easier than ever. In a press conference, the professor unveiled his newest invention, the Master Ball. "The Master Ball is the most powerful Poké Ball ever designed," said Professor Oak, "and with this device, even a novice trainer can capture the fiercest Pokémon." The professor further revealed that a trainer does not have to drain any of a Pokémon's HP before using the Master Ball. "It's foolproof," he stated, "and it will revolutionize Pokémon training as we know it." Professor Oak has licensed his Master Ball design to Silph Co. of Saffron City. Strangely enough, our calls to Silph Co. went unanswered, but we will keep you updated on this incredible story as it unfolds.

Professor Oak

Professor Oak claims that his new Master Ball is foolproof and can capture any Pokémon, even the legendary Moltres. Early field tests by Silph Co. have been very promising.

Game Corner a Big Success

CELADON CITY - In its first few weeks in business, the Game Corner has been a big hit with residents and tourists alike. For a fee, players can try their luck at special slot machines, and big winners can trade in their coins for items and Pokémon at the nearby Exchange Corner. Rumors of Team Rocket's involvement in the business have not been confirmed, but local authorities are investigating.

"It's too good to be true," gushed one Game Corner patron. If Team Rocket is involved, he could be right!

Snorlax Snarls Traffic

The morning commute between Fuchsia City and Lavender Town has been longer than usual, thanks to a snoozing Snorlax. Officials are now trying to locate a Poké Flute to rouse the pooped Pokémon.

All efforts to wake the Snorlax have been ineffective. A Poké Flute may be the last hope.

Celadon City

Celadon City is all about bright lights, big dreams and even bigger bucks. The Celadon Department Store has everything for the discerning Pokémon trainer, and the Game Corner offers thrills, chills and more than a little mystery.

The Surf technique, which you'll learn later in the game, will enable you to cross this pond and speak to the kindly gentleman. He'll reward your skill with a valuable TM. Until then, you'll just have to be patient.

If you give a thirsty little girl some water, she'll give you a TM 13. Follow up with soda pop and lemonade, and she'll give you a TM 48 and a TM 49.

Like Potions, these drinks can be used to replenish some of a Pokémon's HP. Before you leave the cafe, buy an extra bottle of water for the guard at the Saffron City gate.

Bright Lights, Big Bucks

There's something fishy going on at the Game Corner, so talk to the employees to see what you can find out. You don't have to play the slot machines to solve this mystery, but if you win big, you can take your Coins to the Exchange Corner and trade them in for valuable items and rare Pokémon.

To play the slot machines, first visit the Diner to find a Coin Case. Next, go to the Game Corner and speak to some of the players to receive a few free Coins. You can also buy some Coins at the counter. Stand in front of an open machine and press A to begin.

Hidden Door

Walk around to the back of the mansion to find a hidden entrance. Go up to the top floor. Speak to the fellow there to learn some facts about your game and to receive the intriguing Pokémon called Eevee. Eevee has the unique ability to evolve into one of three forms. Use the Fire Stone to transform Eevee into Flareon, the Thunder Stone to change it into Jolteon or the Water Stone to change it into Vaporeon. All of these stones are available on the fourth floor of the department store. The Leaf Stone and the Moon Stone have no effect on Eevee.

Using special stones, Eevee can change into one of three new Pokémon. Flareon, Jolteon and Vaporeon grow stronger over time, but they can't evolve.

Game Corner

It turns out the Game Corner is just a front for a huge Team Rocket operation. The man at the rear of the Game Corner is actually guarding the entrance to a secret, underground lair. The head of this branch of Team Rocket is a sinister figure known only as Giovanni. He has a prototype Silph Scope, which is what you need to identify the ghosts back at Pokémon Tower.

Parts of the basement are covered with tiles that move you automatically. The arrows on the maps show the correct paths.

The Lift Key that operates the elevator is on B4F. Follow stairways A through C to locate the key. Go back up to B1F, then use the elevator to reach Giovanni's office.

Tangela's Bind attack may hit up to five times in a row, while its Constrict ability may lower your Pokémon's Speed rating temporarily.

Pokémon Tower

Now that you have the Silph Scope, you can identify the ghost that's causing all of trouble in Pokémon Tower. It's waiting for you next to the stairs that lead to the seventh floor. Once it's laid to rest, proceed to the next floor, where three Team Rocket members are holding old man Fuji hostage. Defeat them to free Mr. Fuji and lift the curse from the tower once and for all.

Saffron City is home to Silph Co., the makers of the Silph Scope. How did Giovanni get his dirty paws on the Silph Scope prototype? Is Team Rocket somehow responsible for the city's being locked up tight? This is one mystery that deserves a little smart sleuthing.

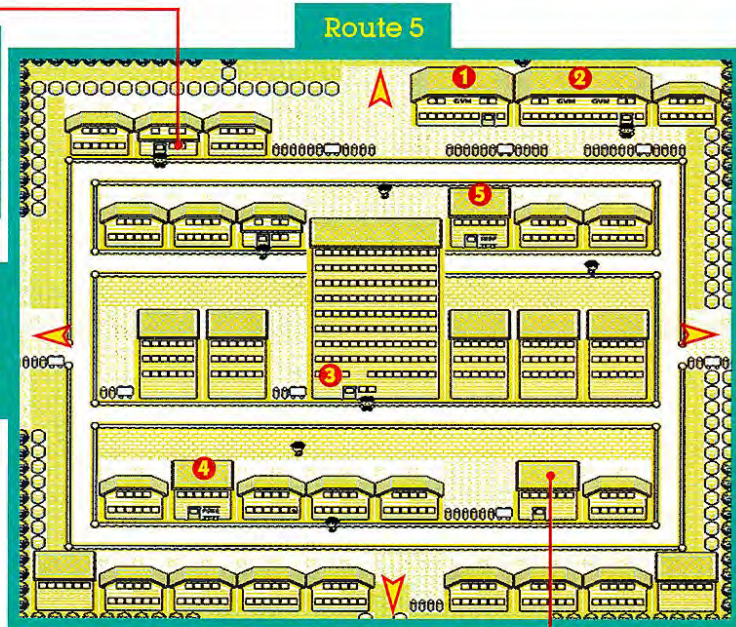

This girl is known as Copycat because of her habit of repeating everything that's said to her. To break her habit, take her a Poké Doll. Remember that no good deed goes unrewarded.

Hitmonchan is also a martial arts expert, but this pugilistic Pokémon uses its hands as its weapons. Hitmonchan is so quick, its hands appear as mere blurs.

Besides the usual Pokémon gym, Saffron City also boasts a special gym, or dojo, that caters to Fighting-type Pokémon. Defeat the Karate Master and his students to receive a Pokémon as a token of their respect. You'll have a choice between a Hitmonlee or a Hitmonchan. Either would be a good addition to your team.

Silph Co.

The Silph Co. president is being held hostage by Team Rocket. To reach him quickly, run up the stairs to the fifth floor and grab the Card Key, which opens every electronic door in the building. Now go to the third floor and use warp tile O to reach the seventh floor, then step on warp tile P to reach the hallway outside the president's office.

You can use the warp tiles to jump from room to room and floor to floor, but using the Card Key is really the quickest way to move around the building.

With its gentle demeanor, Lapras is sometimes used as a waterborne "horse" to transport passengers across short distances.

If your Pokémon are hurt, don't bother leaving the building for medical attention. Speak to the Silph Co. employee in this corner, and she'll heal your Pokémon for you.

Hop, Skip and Warp

The Saffron Gym is divided into nine rooms connected, not by halls, but by warps. Follow the warps, from one to 15, to reach Sabrina. Except for the entry, each room has a trainer in it. You don't have to defeat them all (stay out of their lines of sight to avoid combat), but the experience is good for your Pokémon.

Route 12

After foiling Team Rocket's latest mad scheme, you could probably use some well-deserved rest and relaxation. How about a fishing holiday along Route 12? Be sure to pack your Old Rod and the Poké Flute for this trip. If the Pokémon aren't biting, though, look around for the Super Rod. You may have better luck getting a bite with it.

Lesson 3: Power Up

As a Pokémon gains experience, its Attack, Defense and other ability ratings increase. There is, however, another way to increase a Pokémon's power. By using certain items, you can increase a Pokémon's ratings. For example, giving a Pokémon a dose of Protein increases its Attack power, while giving it a dose of Iron increases its Defense power, and so on. There is a limit to the amount of power a Pokémon can gain with these supplements, but these items can give a Pokémon a small but crucial edge.

SPECIAL REPORT: TMs & HMs

As they gain experience, Pokémon have the opportunity to learn new abilities. You can also teach many Pokémon new abilities using Technical Machines (TMs) and Hidden Machines (HMs). TMs can be found, won or bought in many locations and are good for one use only. HMs are usually given to you as a reward and can be used over and over.

Pokémon Enters New Realms

Viz Communications is introducing Pokémon comic books and videos based on the hit Game Boy game, and Pokémon Power has the scoop!

Comic Craze

The Pokémon phenomenon is making the leap to comic books and home video this November, courtesy of Viz Communications and two of its subsidiaries, Viz Comics and Viz Video. Viz Comics is producing a four-issue limited series called Pokémon: The Electric Tale of Pikachu. Not just a retelling of the video game or the animated TV show, this series explores the fascinating world of Pokémon through the eyes of Ash

Ketchum and his first Pokémon, Pikachu. Each 40-page issue is being written and illustrated by Toshihiro Ono in the Japanese "manga" style for maximum action and fun.

Animated Antics

If animated action is more to your liking, Viz Video is releasing the Pokémon TV series on home video beginning in November. Distributed by Pioneer, each volume contains three complete episodes and comes with lots of fun bonuses, like trading cards, mini-comics and more. Volume I is entitled Pokémon: I Choose You, Pikachu! and follows Ash Ketchum as he starts his new life as a Pokémon trainer. In Episode One, Ash chooses Pikachu as his first Pokémon and discovers that friendship is something that must be earned. In Episode Two, our daring duo have their first confrontation with the evil band of Pokémon trainers known as Team Rocket. In Episode Three, Ash, Pikachu and their new friend, Misty, journey into the mysterious depths of Viridian Forest.

Of course, both the comics and the videos are presented in English and are suitable for all ages. Pokémon are popping up everywhere, and if there are any more sightings, we'll be sure to let you know!
